

Rules for preparing a thesis title page and files with the thesis electronic version

Nicolaus Copernicus University
Ludwik Rydygier Collegium Medicum in Bydgoszcz*)
<Faculty name>

<Name and surname>
Student no.: <student number>
<field of study>

<Master's, Bachelor's, Engineer's> thesis

<Thesis title>

Supervisor
<title, scientific degree, name and surname>

<city >) <year>

*) applies to theses prepared at Collegium Medicum

) Toruń or Bydgoszcz accordingly

1. The thesis shall be submitted to APD in electronic form in PDF file. While adding the file, its type shall be specified as THESIS. The prepared PDF document cannot be password-protected.

The structure of the file name shall be as following: a 2-digit abbreviation of the unit code, dash, then L (in the case of Bachelor's theses), I (in the case of Engineer's theses), or M (in the case of Master's theses), dash, abbreviation of the field of study, dash, student number, file extension ".pdf" (in lower case).

Examples:

10-L-INF-111111.pdf – Bachelor's thesis in IT

10-I-INF-222222.pdf – Engineer's thesis in IT,

12-M-ARCH-333333.pdf – Master's thesis in archeology.

The list of unit (faculty) codes is available on:

<https://apd.umk.pl/documents/page/wydzialy/>

The list of codes of fields of study is available on:

<https://apd.umk.pl/documents/page/kierunki/>

2. If other elements, such as source codes of computer programmes, documentation of artistic works, etc. are attached, you should submit them to APD in a separate file compressed to zip and specify the type as OTHER.